CALVARY WEEKLY

FROM THE PASTOR

*"My son, if your heart is wise,
my heart too will be glad."
Proverbs 23:15*

Let the redeemed of the Lord REJOICE! May we live with joy, knowing that our God has shown his love in a marvelous way toward us. He has blessed us with the gift of forgiveness by his grace and mercy!

In response, God asks us to live a life of legitimate response. "In view of God's mercies..." says Paul, let our action reflect the gratitude we have for God's tremendous love.

This short verse in Proverbs speaks of the joy of the father to see his son living wisely. This demonstrates one way we can live in response to God's love. Our desire to please him means we must live intentionally wise. To the Ephesians, the Lord says, "Look carefully then how you walk, not as unwise but as wise." The instruction is to make the most of your time, because the devil is working hard to do the most damage he can. By living wisely and keeping in step with the Spirit, we maximize our ability to extinguish the devil's fiery darts of lies and accusations. By seeking God's wisdom in our daily lives, we gain power to live victoriously.

Ask God for the wisdom you need in life. He will give generously. And wisdom, being a true understanding of things, not just knowledge of facts, will compel you to act. When you know it is best to "walk this way," you will by God's grace do it.

Praying for you to be full of wisdom today.

Running to Win,

Gabe
